Letters from Cadiz (the date of the Letters is not mention'd) say, that the Enemy have retrench'd themselves in 3 several Places, and have drawn Lines of Communication from one to the other; they have endeavour'd to make themselves Masters of a Bridge near Cadiz, (it is not said whereabouts this Bridge lyes, or whether it have any Name), but were repuls'd with very great loss.

Basil, Sept. 27. The motions of the Bavarians in our Neighbourhood has alarm'd the Cantons, and tho' the French Ambassador has written to them that they need not apprehend any prejudice from his Master's Arms; yet we have call'd in 400 Armed Peasants for the greater security of this City, the Guards of the Burghers is doubled, and most of the Gates kept shut; 6000 Men are ready to assist us from Bern, and others from Zurig. In the Brisgaw and in the Black Forrest orders were issued out for every third Man to appear in Arms to go against the Bavarians, but their proceedings are resisted with so general an animosity, that every single Man came to the Rendezvous: had not the Cantons themselves taken care of Waldshut and Constance they might have been surpris'd, for the Bavarians were come within a few Miles of them. The French began to march this way from Strasburg on Sunday last. The Imperial Camp at Fridlingen will be increas'd to 10000 Men before the end of this Week.

From the Harlem Courant, Dated Octob. 5.

Kroonweysenburg, Sept. 24. Two days ago the King of the Romans presided in a Council of War that was held here, and yesterday he return'd to Heidelberg; whether he will come again to the Army, or whether he will go to Vienna, is not known.

Not far from Fryburg at Kentzlingen a Body of 12 or 15000 Men are drawn together under the command of the Margrave of Durlach and Count Furstemberg.

Cologne, Sept. 29. Last Tuesday the Baron de Lamerelle Suffragan of this City, going in his Coach with a Passport from the Bishop of Raab, from hence to Bonn, was stopp'd without the Gates by some Prussians and Dutch who search'd his Coach and found above 4000 Rixdollars, and several things of Value that were not specified in the Passport; which they took with all his Papers, and carry'd to Muheim, together with his Secretary and two other persons that were with him; but let him go on with his Coach to Bonn.

From the Harlem Courant, Dated Octob. 7.

Cologne, Octob. 3. On Saturday Count Tallard with some Officers came hither under Convoy of a party of Horse, was in conference that day and the next with the Elector and his Ministers, and return'd in the Evening to his Forces that lay not far from Bonn: Last Night he march'd with all of them, 7 or 8000 in Number, through Bonn, and cross'd the Rhine: 'Tis fear'd that he intends to bombard Lulsdorf and Seigburg; and people retire in great numbers out of that part of the Country, to escape being plunder'd. Several Merchants and other Inhabitants of this City that were coming from Frankfort, are detain'd in Bonn, till restitution be made to our Suffragan the Baron de Lemarcelle. 'Tis reported that our Elector intends to be conducted to Luxemburg or Brussels.

Hague, Octob. 5. The Prince d'Auvergne is return'd hither from the Army. The Heer Pless, Envoy from the King of Denmark, took his leave to day of the Forreign Ministers that reside at this Court, to go for England. Dr. Aglionby the English Envoy voy to Switzerland, is arriv'd here, and will shortly proceed on his Journey to that Country.

Frankfort, Octob. 1. The Army of the Allies is broke up from Croon Weyssenburg, and is advanc'd as far as Motter towards Haguenau; they will move nearer to Marthal Catinat to keep him in Alarm and prevent his sending any Detachment towards the Upper Alsatia. The Troops of the Circles of Swabia and Franconia, are preparing with all diligence to hinder the joyning of the Bavarians and French, if they should attempt it; and 'tis said that those Bavarian Troops who were marching towards the Black Forrest are retir'd back again; but of this there is not sufficient certainty.
